

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a violation of the law and clearly an ethical violation. Business owners are entitled to their opinions but forcing them on the public when they are allowed to use the public airwaves free of charge, and are obligated by law to serve the public interest is a clear abuse of the public trust. I am deeply disturbed by this action. It is clearly the obligation of the FCC to step in and prevent this abuse of corporate power.
